

SUNDAY AFTERNOON TO BE DEVOTED TO MEMORY OF HEROES

Annual Memorial Day Exercises in Dixon Start at 1:30

BULLETIN
This afternoon at a conference of the mercantile branch of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce it was decided to close all stores in the city at noon Monday, to give clerks and employers a half holiday. Accordingly another story appearing elsewhere in this paper to the effect that business would be conducted as usual, which reflected the attitude of the merchants up until noon today, has been nullified.

There will be the usual edition of the Telegraph Monday afternoon.

The people of Dixon will tomorrow afternoon unite in paying tribute to the memory of the deceased heroes of all the nation's wars who sleep in Oakwood and vicinity cemeteries, and in doing homage to the surviving veterans of those wars. The afternoon will be devoted to the annual Memorial Day exercises, held under the auspices of the Dixon Memorial Ass'n., and will consist of the customary parade, in which the G. A. R., U. S. W. V. and American Legion will occupy places of honor and in which all of the fraternal and civic bodies are expected to participate, and the exercises at the court house park.

Parade at 1:30 P. M.
The parade will form on Second street in front of the Elks' club at 1:15 o'clock, and will move at 1:30 sharp, under command of L. W. Mitchell, Marshal of the Day, and Charles E. Miller, Officer of the Day. The line of march is announced as follows:

West on Second street to Galena avenue; south on Galena avenue to Third street; west on Third street to Peoria avenue; north on Peoria avenue to First street; east on First street to Galena avenue; south on Galena avenue to Third street; east on Third street to Dement avenue; south on Dement avenue to Oakwood cemetery.

At the cemetery the school children will decorate the graves of all deceased veterans, and short exercises will be held at the G. A. R. lot, after which the procession will reform and return to the court house square where the exercises of the day will be completed in the following program:

Thirty in Delegation to Camp Grant Bouts

A delegation of about 30 Dixon boxing enthusiasts are anticipating witnessing the program to be given at the Camp Grant arena on Monday evening, making the trip by automobiles. The first cars will leave at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, others following as late as 6 o'clock. The program at the camp will consist of 40 rounds of boxing. The show opens with two six-round bouts to be followed by an eight round tilt. Two ten round affairs will conclude the program.

Several army officers from Fort Sheridan and the Great Lakes naval training station together with the Camp Grant officers will view the matches. Captain Herriek, director of athletics at the camp, in a long distance telephone message has assured the Dixon delegation of good seats very close to the ring side. The demand for seats for this bill is said to exceed that of any former show at the camp.

Few Auto Owners Broke New Statute

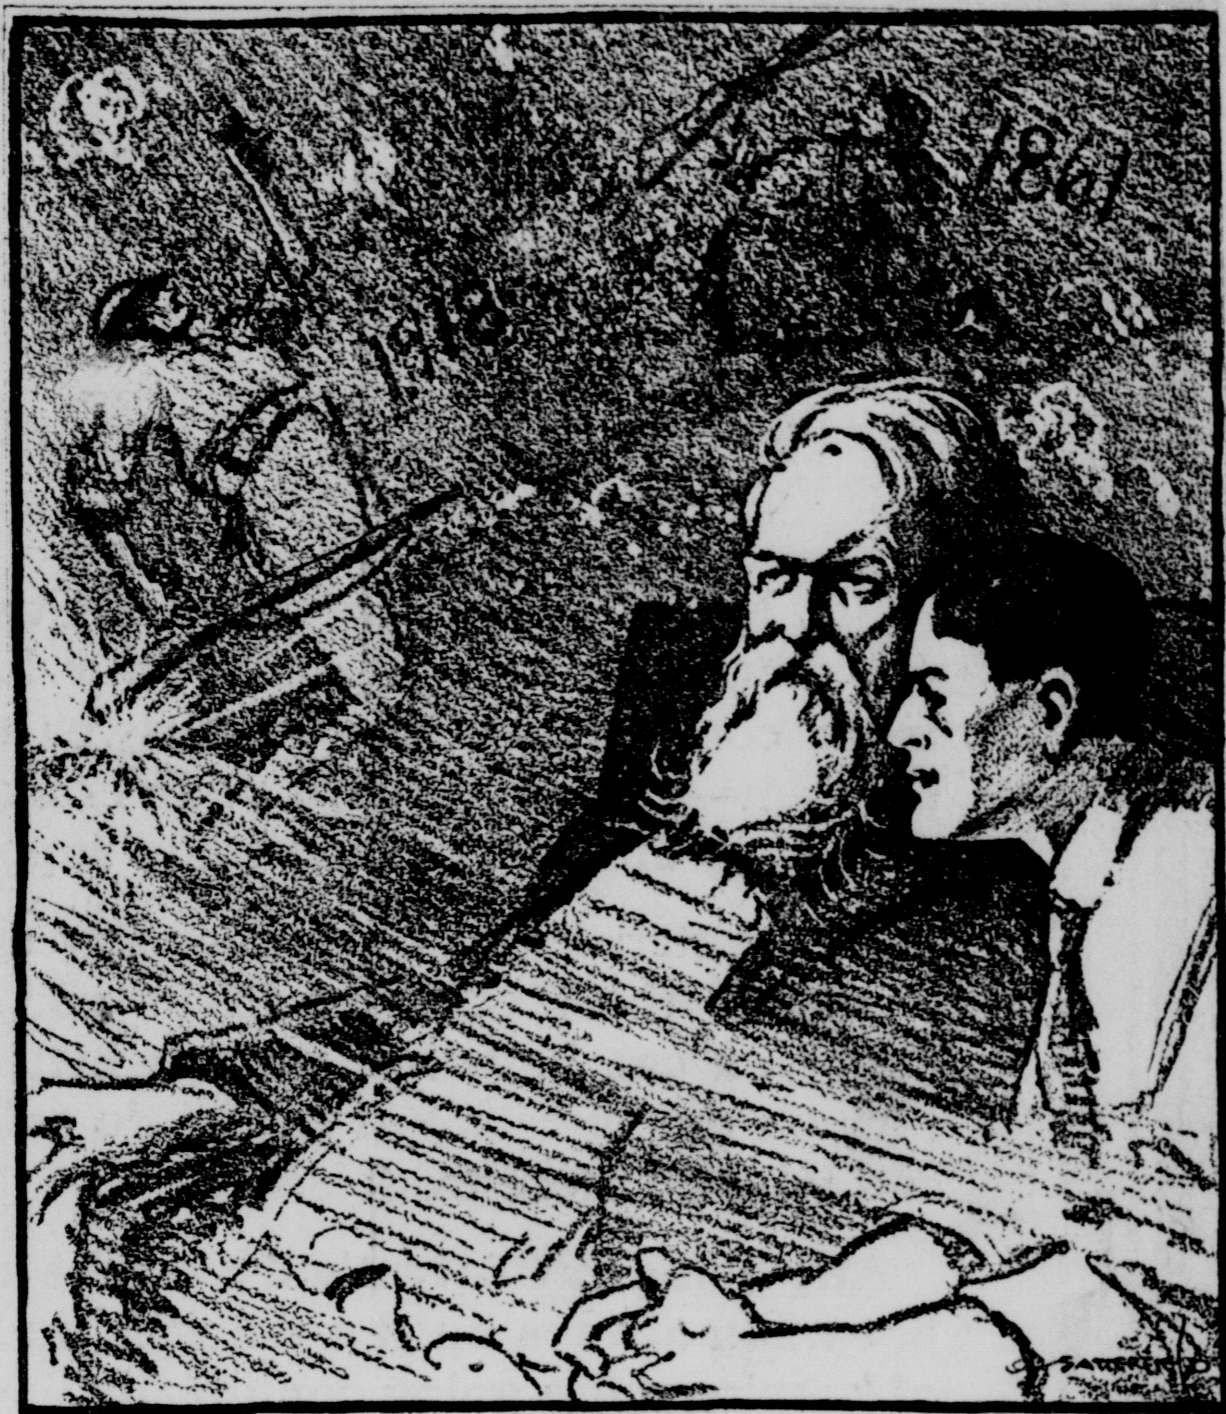

A few automobile owners, probably non-readers of the Telegraph, had to be admonished by the police today for failure to heed the provisions of the new Galena ave. ordinance which went into effect at midnight and which prohibits the parking of cars on the east side of that thoroughfare. Violators of the new ordinance were warned that another infraction of the law would result in prosecution.

PLANNED DEATH OF STEGERMAN TO GET WOMAN

Murderer Confesses to Crime—Woman Helped Him

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, May 29.—Theodore Lauchis today confessed to the police that he murdered John Domenech of Steger Ill., because he loved Domenech's wife, provided money to pay the funeral expenses and other bills and then went to St. Louis where he was to meet Mrs. Domenech. Domenech's body was found in a grove near Steger on May 22, three days after he had disappeared. Lauchis was arrested through a letter he mailed in St. Louis.

According to the police version of the confession, Lauchis said he planned the murder with Mrs. Domenech and then lured her husband to a grove where he shot him in the back while he was bending over some flowers.

Dixon May Delay Effort for State Elks' Convention

Next Thursday will be Dixon day at the annual state convention of the B. P. O. Elks at Ottawa. While the delegates to the convention and some of the officers of the local lodge expect to attend the sessions on the two opening days, Tuesday and Wednesday, the members who have expressed themselves as desirous of attending have selected Thursday, the closing day of the convention.

It is expected that on that day no less than a half hundred automobiles bearing Elks and their families will leave Dixon early in the morning for the convention city. Several weeks ago it was announced that the Dixon lodge would make an effort to secure the 1921 convention of the state Elks' association, but opposition from other cities from the northern part of the state, who were organized many months ago, will doubtless result in Dixon not entering the contest for next year's gathering.

Short of Material, Shoe Factory Closes

The Brown Shoe company plant in this city closed all of its departments this afternoon for a short period on week. Superintendent Walter Watkins this morning stated that all of the plants of the company would be closed down for the one week period on account of a shortage in raw material from the eastern markets due to traffic congestion. It is hoped that within one week, sufficient material can be received to keep the factories running for some weeks without another shut down.

Master in Chancery Mark C. Keller returned home last evening from a short business trip to Chicago.

Harvey Sindlinger arrived in Dixon today from Danville to spend a few days.

SEE ARMENIA SWALLOWED UP IN BOLSHEVISM

American Relief Workers There Are Pessimistic

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Constantinople, May 26.—President Wilson's recommendation that the United States accept the Armenian mandate has caused much surprise among American relief workers here who have recently been in Armenia. They say the entire Caucasus country is involved in currents and counter currents of racial and religious hatred which make it fertile soil for Bolshevism. They are, therefore, pessimistic as to the ability of any power to protect Armenia against her hostile neighbors. American and British officials as well as the relief workers believe Armenia may be swallowed up in the Bolsheviki movement which has nearly engulfed the Caucasian region. It is asserted that treaties and armistices between the little nations of the Caucasus district are regarded as being engineered from Moscow to gain time and pave the way for easier access to Persia. It is the apparent determination of the Bolsheviki to invade Persia and extend activities to Afghanistan. This feature of the situation is causing much comment in official circles here.

Bar Association attended the annual meeting of the Association in Chicago this week and presented the invitation of the local association, which, they report, received most cordial consideration from those whose duty it will be to decide the city for next year's meeting.

Selection of the 1921 convention is left for thirteen officers of the state association who will meet in November to make such decision, and the two Dixon attorneys received encouragement from a majority of those officers whom they interviewed.

A Ford touring car from the tank from which all the gasoline had leaked, blocked traffic on the middle span of the Galena avenue bridge this afternoon for several minutes. It was necessary to let the car stand until gasoline could be secured from a garage before the congestion was cleared.

NEW SUBSCRIPTION PRICES FOR EVENING TELEGRAPH

The management of the Dixon Evening Telegraph announces that commencing Monday, May 31, subscription prices for this newspaper will be as follows:

Delivered by carrier, in Dixon or elsewhere, 20 cents per week. By mail in the counties of Lee, Whiteside, Bureau, LaSalle, DeKalb, Ogle and Carroll, $8.00 per year. Elsewhere in the United States and Canada, by mail, $8.00 per year.

The Telegraph believes that the public is sufficiently acquainted with the rising costs to realize that the increases in subscription prices are conservative. Certainly, they are inadequate to absorb the great increase in the cost of manufacturing a newspaper. If present extortionate prices for print paper continue to prevail the new rates will be wholly insufficient. It is with the hope and expectation that print paper prices will soon subside to a more reasonable figure that these rates have been fixed.

Other Papers Have Raised
The Evening Telegraph has twice raised advertising rates in an effort to cover rising costs without calling upon subscribers. We have watched the soaring costs of newspaper making for six months, waiting for improved conditions, while other papers all over the United States have made radical increases in subscription rates as well as advertising.

The papers in Rockford and Belvidere have for some time charged 20 cents a week for city subscriptions and their mail subscriptions are $6.00 for the first zone and $9.00 outside.

The Sterling Gazette is now charging the same subscription rate as is announced by The Telegraph today.

Readers of The Dixon Telegraph are getting a newspaper service that excels most cities the same size and larger than Dixon and that is unexcelled in the larger cities in the state.

Dixon is one of the smallest cities in the nation to have an Associated Press wire with the full report of the A. P., and the staff and equipment of this paper is equal to that of most city papers where the population is three or four times greater.

Many thousands of dollars a year could be cut from the expense account of The Telegraph by the elimination of some of this service but the management of The Telegraph believes that Dixon wants a modern complete newspaper, representative of the community and that the citizens of Dixon and surrounding territory will support such a newspaper.

In The Telegraph the reader gets every essential that he finds in a Chicago paper which sells for $7.50 a year by mail for six days a week in the first zone and more than $22.00 a year for seven days in the farther zones. And to this service of the local paper you may add the purely local news, which is of more interest than the outside news and which the outside paper does not carry.

Cost of a Subscriber Newspaper subscriptions have always been sold and still are being sold for only a portion of the real cost. Figures vary according to the size of the subscription list and the quality of the service rendered to the readers, but most newspapers published in cities the size of Dixon find that it costs them an average of from $12.00 to $15.00 a year to deliver the finished product to the subscriber's door, either by mail or carrier. Mail subscribers in the first zone cost the publisher less, of course, than carrier subscribers. The new postal rates increase the cost of sending papers to the further zones considerably.

Dixon Stores Will Be Open as Usual Monday; Banks Close

The stores of Dixon will be open for business as usual Monday. This was definitely announced this morning by those in charge of working agreements between the mercantile establishments of the city. Inasmuch as the Memorial Day exercises are to be held on Sunday merchants see no need of closing on Monday, and accordingly "business as usual" will be the slogan here.

However, the banks of the city, county and city offices, Western Union Telegraph office and the post office will observe holiday customs. The banks and city and county offices will not be open at all Monday, the post office will be open until 10 a. m. and the Western Union Telegraph office will observe usual holiday hours.

Corn Bullish Today; Receipts Fell Off

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, May 29.—Stoppage of wheat loadings in Argentina together with active export demand for wheat at gulf ports in the United States had a decided bullish influence today on the corn market. Furthermore receipts of corn today were much smaller than expected and country offerings to arrive were light. With commission houses and shorts counting as buyers, the market rapidly advanced. Opening prices which varied from unchanged figures to 3 cents higher, with July at 1.65 to 1.66 and September 1.52 1/2 to 1.53, were followed by gains all around, and then something of a reaction. Oats strengthened with corn. After opening unchanged to 1 1/2c higher, including July at 88 1/2c to 89 1/2c, the market steadied at a moderate general advance.

Weakness in hog values had a bearish effect on provisions despite the upturn of grain.

Toward the last May delivery was easy, but July and September showed continued strength. The close was unsettled, 1 1/2c net lower to 3 1/2c advance, with July 1.65 1/2 and September 1.53 1/2 to 1.54.

Weekly Grain Review.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, May 29.—Confidence regarding high prices of grain has shown remarkable vitality this week in view of the semipermanent which preceded. Failure of receipts, together with planting delays, decreased production and Australian drought gave renewed courage to bulls. Compared with a week ago, corn quotations this morning were 3/4c to 5c higher, oats up to 1 1/2c to 3 1/2c and provisions at gains of 5c to 7 1/2c.

It quickly became evident that many influential traders believed the drastic declines which had been witnessed were more than sufficient to discount all depressing features of the corn market. Upward swings began with general notice of planting tardiness due to wet soil conditions. Later the persistent dearth of receipts was given more and more heed. Next came a statement by Herbert Hoover referring to possible dependence of this country on overseas supplies. Word of disastrous drought affecting the Australian wheat crop followed and wheat prices jumped to a bushel overnight. Subsequently, however, bulls received a hard jolt from untrue reports that the switchmen's strike had been settled and from prospects of a decided increase of corn receipts next week. Ideal weather accelerated downturns of the oats market.

Most of the time notable absence of demand for provisions was apparent.

AUTO INSURANCE COMPANY WINS EXPERT'S PRAISE

The Continental Auto Insurance association, Springfield, Ill., has just undergone a rigid examination by the insurance departments of Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and Indiana.

The insurance examiners, in making their report, had the following to say concerning the association:

"It is managed by men experienced in insurance affairs."

"The books and records are complete in detail and the affairs of the association are efficiently managed and provision has been made to take care of all liabilities, and the interests of the policy holders appear to be safeguarded."

"An examination of the claim files discloses the fact that the claimants have been treated honestly and fairly."

"The association provides for protection in case of a conflagration or destruction of a number of machines in any one fire, by a reinsurance contract with reliable and authorized insurance concerns, whereby the maximum loss to the association by fire or theft will not exceed $5,000."

"The association has gross assets of $107,147.53. Its liabilities are $48,570.29, giving a surplus of $68,577.24."—Chicago Evening Post, May 17, 1920.

See the Triumph of Home Comfort with Your Own Eyes

ALL NEXT WEEK we will present a one-act drama on how to make your home life more comfortable. It's the answer to a real problem—just as vital to your home as gas, sanitary plumbing, or cold-water supply.

Hot water for your home—any amount—any time—that's what we invite you to see—how you can have hot water whenever you turn on the faucets, just as you do cold water, and with no more trouble.

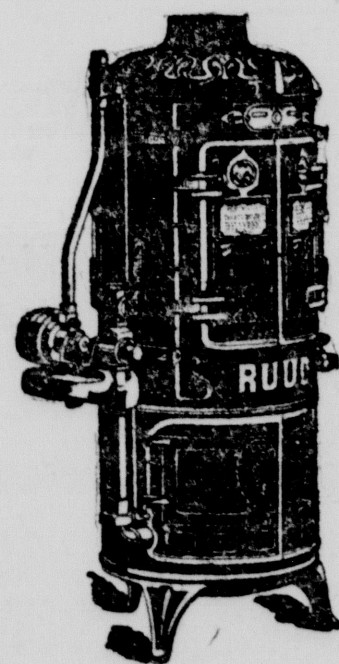

Any home by this method can have unlimited hot water always on tap without the expense of keeping a fire going continually.

Mind you, we say any home. Whether yours is a five-room bungalow or a house with five baths makes no difference. This is a hot-water service for every home.

This is a week of demonstration—not a sale. Our invitation includes everybody—father, mother, brother, sister, husband and wife—we want all to see the miracle of instant hot water made a plain, every-day fact.

So come in Monday. If you can't come Monday, come Tuesday, or any day next week. But come, turn the faucet yourself, see the Ruud Automatic Gas Water Heater work and learn about the device that has made home hot-water service just as simple as other modern conveniences.

Monday the Demonstration Starts ILLINOIS NORTHERN UTILITIES COMPANY

THE Ruud Automatic Gas Water Heater connects gas and water pipes in the basement or wherever convenient. You don't need to give it any attention.

Just turn the hot-water faucet in bathroom, kitchen, or laundry, and steaming hot water comes instantly. Shutting off the faucet shuts off the heater—waste is impossible.

ENJOYMENT IN BOOKS—

Sometimes people get in a rut, even in their enjoyments, and follow the same program day after day, forgetful of the many things they might enjoy and miss that might make them "happy as kings," in the words of Stevenson. There is a growing tendency away from reading and the pleasures that it brings; perhaps it's the general rush and hurry of the work-a-day world, greater than ever before, or perhaps it's the tendency to take a drive in the car or a visit to the movies, where no call to exert is made on the tired mind. However, there are ever so many good things in the library that add to one's pleasure and add, also, to one's store of practical knowledge. Just a glimpse of the new books in our own public library is refreshing.

The housewife, in search of suggestions for the refurbishing of her house, will find much that she could utilize in "The Little Book on Interior Decorating," in which Harold Donaldson Eberlein, Abbot McClure, and Edward Stratton Holloway collaborated.

Among the many interesting new books is "Marse Henry," an autobiography of Henry Watterson, "The Labrador Doctor," telling of the work of Dr. Grenfell, "The Remaking of a Mind," an interpretation of present world issues by a prominent young Belgian labor leader, Henry de Man; a book describing the Virgin Islands, our late possessions; a little book of poetry on Starved Rock, our own Starved Rock, by Edgar Lee Masters, author of Spoon River Anthology, and other poems of Illinois localities; "What Happened to Europe," telling of its paralyzed industry, chaos of currencies, etc., by Frank A. Vandierip; John Drinkwater's popular drama, "Abraham Lincoln"; "Roosevelt's Letters to His Family," a book on "Camping and Woodcraft" which should interest many as the vacation season approaches; "Wayside Flowers of Summer" which will give one a knowledge of the plants seen in walks along our roadways, and just as these beautiful plants come into bloom what could be more interesting to the flower lover than "The Book of the Peony," by Mrs. Edward Harding.

"Homes for Workmen" with plans for many attractive cottages and bungalows, is especially attractive now that the real building season of the year is here.

The Dixon library contains, too, what are considered the most popular fiction now—"The Re-creation of Bryan Kent," by Harold Bell Wright, "The River's End," by James Oliver Curwood, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" by Vicente Blasco Ibañez, "Red and Black," by Richmond, "The Lamp in the Desert," Dell, and "The House of Balthazar," Locke. "White Shadows in the South Seas" by O'Brien is another book greatly in demand in all parts of our country and "The Life of John D. Marshall," by Beveridge, has its many readers. A visit to the library will convince that there is no possible interest that one may have which is not the subject of treatment in some book, enlightening and valuable.

NOTED GUEST FROM LONDON—

Mrs. L. N. Bayly, of London, Eng., has been the guest of Mrs. Alice Beede, of Chadwick, for several days at her cottage in Assembly Park, Dixon. During the first three months of the war Mrs. Bayly organized and controlled the first relief society in London for the benefit of men called to the colors—5,000 of whom from the company with which she was connected went to the war within ten days of its outbreak. From September, 1915, to June, 1916, she was in France with the Y. M. C. A., and then, for nine months, in charge of the clerical staff, mostly by that time girls, at the London headquarters of the same organization. In May, 1917, she went to a munitions factory in Yorkshire, first to organize and supervise the office staff and later to help with the running of the factory. Just after the armistice was signed one of the managers died and as there were many problems to be faced during the transition period between war time and peace time work, Mrs. Bayly was asked to stay on with the firm and only relinquish her post in January last.

She is now traveling for six months, on this side of the water to study for herself our post war conditions, being particularly interested in women in industry as well as the various other activities in which they are participating. Mrs. Bayly spoke before Woman's club at an open meeting in Chadwick Monday evening. She returned to Chicago Tuesday morning to speak that evening before the Chicago Woman's club, and on Wednesday at the women's dinner in connection with the National Convention of Industrial Relations in America.

N. S. SENIOR-JUNIOR BANQUET—
The Senior-Junior banquet of the North Side High school, held last evening at the Colonial Inn, Grand Detour, was an especially delightful affair. The twenty-two members of the Senior class, between thirty and forty from the Junior class, and all the members of the faculty, including Supt. and Mrs. John Reeder, Miss Gayard, Miss Andrews, Miss Thompson, Miss Murdock, Miss Fay, Miss Dale, Miss Zilly, Mr. Poffenberger, and Mr. Bates were in attendance. Pink and white was most effectively used in the table decorations, with bridal wreath and carnations as the flowers. A delicious three-course banquet was served by the Inn management. After the dinner, with Margaret Kniel as toastmistress, a delightful program of toasts and music was enjoyed. Toasts were given by the principal, Miss Gaylard, Mr. Poffenberger, Stuart Seniff, of the Junior class, Carl Santee of the Senior class, and Miss Fay, teacher of English and Latin.

Miss Irene Scott sang a beautiful vocal number and Miss Dorothy Raymond furnished a pleasing piano number. The Class Prophecy, written by Miss Margaret Kniel and read by Clinton Ives, contained many allusions to the present which kept the company in a gale of merriment. James Andrews, as a representative of the Senior Class, talked on the "Spirit of the Class." Miss Emma Craig, of the Junior Class, made the response to Mr. Andrews' talk. A most elaborately compiled Senior will, written in collaboration by Lucile Frye, Dorothy Gullion, George Beier, and Dorothy Chapman, was read by Miss Gullion. The singing of the class song ended the program, the company then adjourning to Illini hall where dancings was enjoyed for the remainder of the evening.

PRESBYTERIAN MISSIONARY—
A most delightful meeting of the Presbyterian Missionary society was held on Friday afternoon at the home of Miss Godfrey in North Dixon. Roll call responses were on "Workers," as mentioned in Bible texts. Mrs. E. L. Staples had in charge of the devotional service. A very interesting biographical sketch of Ann Eliza Pease and the story of her work in the South was given by Mrs. George Dixon. Mrs. Traber, who spent the winter traveling in the South, told of the needs of the country, especially mentioning the need of more schools in many sections. Delicious hot chocolate and wafers, a departure from the custom of no refreshments, were served by Miss Godfrey and greatly enjoyed by the guests.

W. R. P. C. CLUB—
A delightful social afternoon resulted for the members of the W. R. P. C. club from the regular meeting held on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Arthur Sheffield. The afternoon was spent socially over needlework. Mrs. Sheffield's had prettily decorated the rooms open to the guests with snowballs and spirea. At the close of the afternoon tempting refreshments were served. Mrs. L. G. Meppen was a guest of the members. The next meeting will be held some time during June with Mrs. Clinton Rhodes.

FIGURES SHOW TREMENDOUS GROWTH OF AUTO INDUSTRY

Sit down, hold tight to your chair and get ready to believe the incredible. For here come "Facts and Figures" compiled annually by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce—enough to make a fellow dizzy at the thought of them and have him realize what a small part the individual plays in this motor-scarred world.

Your automobile is only one out of 6,808,848 now in the United States. That excludes the trucks, which make the total number of motor vehicles in the country 7,558,848. Think of them lined up five feet apart, along the equator, and you will have a complete ring of motor cars around the earth.

Or figuring another way—now hold tight—at a conservative average motor car mileage of 3,000, the total mileage is 22,667,544,000 annually, which multiplied by an average of three passengers means a total passenger mileage of—whe!—68,002,632,000 miles.

During 1919 alone, manufacturers produced 1,657,652 passenger cars and

MAKING YOUR BATTERY GIVE BETTER SERVICE

Local Vesta Dealer Gives Valuable Suggestions on the Care of Batteries

"Much of the trouble motorists have with their batteries is due to allowing the battery to become over-discharged," according to the manager of the Vesta Battery Service Station, at the Wilson Auto Co. Garage.

"Ordinarily," says the manager, "a battery is considered discharged when it lacks the power to turn over the engine. Such a battery, however, still has some current. But a battery discharged to the zero point will naturally require longer to charge than a battery in which some current remains. This happens when the battery is short circuited, or when it has been overcharged by too continuous pressure on the starter when the car starts hard. No battery should be allowed to reach the 'dead' state, for long before that, destructive sulphation has started.

"The internal condition of a battery is indicated by the way it acts when being charged. This condition determines the length of time required to charge the battery.

"A charge is something more than a mere shop operation. It is a diagnosis of the battery's internal condition and when done by a battery expert will prove to be a cure for certain battery troubles.

"If a battery is in average condition it can be brought to a full recharge in 48 hours. Do not blame the battery man if it takes longer, however, for there may be something wrong with the battery which does not appear from the outside.

"Batteries should be tested regularly to determine the strength of the solution. We are glad to make this test for you without charge, or we will show you how to make the test yourself.

316,364 trucks. The value of this output is placed at $1,885,112,546. And this amount, says "Facts and Figures," is equal to one-third the money in circulation in the United States at the end of 1918, or double the amount of gold in the U. S. treasury at that time.

Adding the cost to wholesalers of motor vehicle parts, tires and accessories, you have the astounding volume of $3,166,834,594 in total output for 1919. Connected with this is gasoline. Of the 77 million barrels produced in 1919, 52 million were consumed by motor vehicles.

And, in passing, tires produced last year amounted to 33,000,000. After playing with these figures, one tire manufacturer has calculated the total

Germany, with all its revolutions and food shortages, finds time to enjoy itself a la motor car. Even more than in this country, Berlinites have even gone to buying baby autos for the youngsters. These autos accommodate one person, but a trailer is made to fit and add carry a friend. Even a baby garage can be obtained for the little motor car.

Virginia has started a campaign to teach its people the value of good highways and the need of maintaining them as such. It will be an educational campaign through motion pictures, which will show the benefits of good roads, not only to commerce and industry, but to the social side of life.

The ideal American highway is being planned at some point on the Lincoln Highway. It is proposed to be the composite opinion of America's best road engineers as to what constitutes a practical working highway. The project includes not only the construction of this ideal road itself, but ideal in drainage, in providing a camp site, an overnight inn and a gasoline filling station.

PARADISE AT HAND FOR MOTORISTS!

Paradise, for the motorist, is in sight at last! Paradise, where no breakdowns occur and where your machine will run practically on nothing.

The latter is almost within the grasp of the motor world. For a noted chemist has invented a method to produce liquid hydrogen cheaply. What interests auto drivers is that one gallon of this fuel, says the scientist, is enough to run an automobile 250 miles!

MOVEMENT ON TO IMPROVE HIGHWAYS LINKING NATIONAL PLAYGROUNDS

An improved highway to make the national parks of the west more accessible to motorists is the object of a movement spreading throughout that section. The road linking these playgrounds of the nation is practically all there, but it needs improvement—hard-surfacing—to a large extent, and it is appropriations and sentiment for this that those interested seek. The map shows the territory covered by this highway.

down is sucked into the carburetor. This causes the fuel to flow irregularly and sometimes stops the flow altogether. Cotton cloth, therefore, is better for this purpose.

Our Candidate for President
FRANK O. LOWDEN

The secret of success is constancy
to purpose.—Disraeli.

LOWDEN STOCK BOOMS

Governor Lowden's stock as a presidential candidate is booming. Writers and papers who have been boosting other candidates, with no good word for Lowden or any other than their favorite, are beginning to "hedge". The Ogle man has a better chance right now than any American to be the net President of the United States.

Lowden's great campaign has been thandled with the greatest tact and sense. He has not tried to carry every primary state election in the union. He has made no attempt to spend millions of dollars to meet the colossal campaign expenditures of other candidates. The Governor has merely been coasting along while the rest of the leading candidates have been going at it hammer and tongs killing each other off. The killing has been extremely successful from Lowden's point of view. Of the leading candidates Lowden is the only man who can expect votes from any other candidate's delegation. He has engaged in no bitter fights nor has he been poaching on any other fellows preserves.

The Scripp papers, a powerful eastern string of dailies, who have been wasting a lot of valuable print paper boosting Herbert Hoover as a candidate now come out with a story declaring that Governor Lowden of Illinois appears to have a very good chance for the nomination. Chairman Hert of the Kentucky delegation says sentiment is crystallizing around Governor Lowden and that the Kentucky delegation favors him, although uninstructed.

Wood has made too many enemies among rival candidates to be able to get many more than the votes already pledged him, although he will probably have more votes than any candidate on the first ballot. Johnson, who has shown great strength, is considered radical by eastern politicians and his geographical situation is also against him.

When the first tests show candidates they cannot win their delegates will be released and they will swing to other and stronger men. Lowden is the logical candidate for them to swing to an to compromise on. Indications at this time point very strongly to Frank O. Lowden as the next occupant of the White House.

Smile Awhile

BY LEE HINGSTON

Rejecting other fond desires and ways to blow my money in, I bought a brace of rubber tires with which to shoe my steed of tin. It happened that I traded where I cut considerable ice and so they let me have the pair at something off the listed price. "Upon the rear wheels of my car," said I, "these tires shall never fail. I will proceed to roam afar, perchance I'll seek the Holy Grail. I'll know the storied lands that lure"—with that I killed a passing hen.
Its owner claimed its blood was pure; it cost me twenty iron men. "In daisies and money and wine, I find," said I, "the path of peace"—I bumped into a herd of swine, and two were only good for grease. Those pigs had noble dams and sires, and stuff the bill I had to pay; I thought of what I'd saved in tires and so went smiling on my way. Said I, "With these on either wheel, the Happy Isles will I explore"—just then the world began to reel and suddenly I knew no more. Then, dimly in an hour or less, I seemed to hear a murmur say: "It was the Cannon Ball Express, and this here guy got in the way."
Since when, I have not left my room, my bones and thews are sewn with wires;

BRINGING UP FATHER.

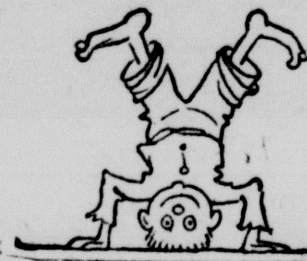

BY GEORGE McMANUS

Such is Life

BY O. B. JOYFUL

Maybe somebody somewhere knows why it is that every kid in town gets the circus fever the day after he's been under the Big Tent.
But that somebody hasn't revealed
the reason.

The fact remains that all the little boys who don't run away and join the circus stay at home and get into the circus business themselves.

That's when Ma misses her new silk stockings and finds 'em on Will ie doing service in his tightrope walking act. Which, too, explains what became of the clothes line.

Every dog in the neighborhood is a lion or a bear, excepting those doing duty as elephants, giraffes, or horses. And the good old house cat is worried sick trying to look like a ferocious tiger in the big old bird cage which hasn't been used since it became more fashionable to keep a poodle than a canary.

One thing for sure, the kid circus
does collect all the pins in the community doesn't it?

Dr. Pilsan Powders had a lawsuit hanging fire. Naturally he hired a lawyer to fuss with it.

The other day he got the legal bill.
It included an item like this:
"To 1-1-2 hours' fishing—$35."
"Say," exclaimed the doc to the lawyer, "what do you mean by charging me for a fishing trip?"

"This way," replied the Black-stonian expert, "I can do my best thinking when I'm fishing. Your case needed that sort of thinking.
So I went out in a boat, cast over the line and gave myself over to deep mental effort upon your case."

During the five and one-half year of war in France not a single automobile was sold to a private individual in that country.

At Alto Cruero, in Bolivia, water freezes every night throughout the year, while at noonday the sun is hot enough to cause actual suffering.

An ocean steamer of the first-class going at full speed, cannot be brought to a halt in less than three minutes.

In France noted criminals are made to speak and sing into a phonograph
before their discharge from prison.

There won't be a real proletariat in America until cooties become a great deal more popular than they are now.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
by Olive Roberts Barton

Sleeker Tells How It Is

The twins were about to cut off Sleeker Swallow's tail at his request when Rupabub the fairyman, interfered.
"Wait a moment," said he. "How far can you fly without stopping, Sleeker?"
"Hundreds of miles," answered Sleeker proudly. "Only I could fly further still if I hadn't these tight clothes on, and this long-tailed coat!"
"Hm," said Rupabub. "Hm! Just so! Do you ever rest?"
"Oh, yes," admitted Sleeker. "But I don't stop. I just spread my wings out further and the air gets under them and under my tail and holds me up. I rest nicely as I soar."
"Now about your tail! How do you stick into cliffs and chimneys when they're straight up and down, as you say you do?"
"Well, admitted Sleeker uneasily, but truthfully, "I dig in my claws, and I

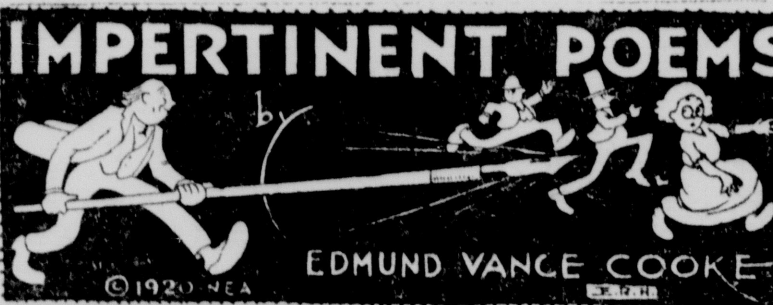

"How far can you fly without stopping, Sleeker?"

ing by tail feathers in, too. That holds me up fine!"
"And if you had loose clothes on when you fly, the wind would get inside and hold you back, wouldn't it?" urged Rupabub.
Sleeker nodded reluctantly.
"Well, then, as far as I can see, you're dressed all right," decided Rupabub.
"Perhaps you don't like your looks, but that's foolish. None of us can help that. Besides I think your picture in the Bird Book you're marked 'Handsome'.
That ought to satisfy you."
"All right," agreed Sleeker grudgingly. "I'll try it another year. I'll be off now to the Land Where Spring Is Coming. If the dandelions are out, people will be expecting me. Besides, the blossoms will bring out all the bees, and I do love the bees!"
Sleeker didn't explain what he meant by that exactly, but Rupabub, locking up the cupboard before closing up Scrub Up Land for the season, winked at the twins with a queer little grin.

be gone in 50 years.
The bulk of the original supplies of yellow pine in the south will be gone
in 10 years, and, within seven years, 3000 manufacturing plants there will go out of business.
White pine in the lake states is nearing exhaustion, and these states are paying $6,000,000 a year in freight bills to import timber.
New England, self-supporting in lumber 20 years ago, now has to import one-third of the amount used.
Fire destroys over $20,000,000 worth

Within 50 years the present timber

Forest devastation must be stopped;

A GENUINE JOB.

Have you a job, a genuine job,
A job that is worth our while?
Which brings you bread and a little ahead
And sends you home with a smile?
Then, if some one comes when the weather's fine
And the suckers are biting on every line,
And he wants you to stick stock in his mine—
Whoa!
Go slow, my boy, go slow!
It is true that gold has a grateful glow.
But why not consider the job you know?

(Per contra, I might write a couple of odes
To make you think you're a Cecil Rhodes.)

Have you a job, a genuine job,
A job that you know clean through,
Which serves some need of the human breed
As well as a job may do?
Then, if some one comes, rubbing hand on hand,
And says he admires your sense and sand
And he'd like to engage you to lead his band—
Whoa!
Go slow, my boy, go slow!
A shako and baton make some show,
But why not stick to the job you know?

(I could write a poem, on the other hand,
To prove your job is to lead the band.)
Have you a job, a genuine job,
Into which you have built your years,
Till its blood and bone are your very own,
Foundational on hopes and fears?
Then, if some one comes and proclaims that Fate
Has arranged that a guy of your size and weight
Is to handle the wheel of the Ship of State,
Whoa!
Go slow, my boy, go slow!
The Ship of State may survive the blow
If you stick to your little old craft and row!
(However, of course, it would still be true
That Lincoln had no such start as you.)

PREPARING BABY'S MILK
Unless milk is certified or pasteurized there is danger of it containing the germs of tuberculosis,
scarlet fever, typhoid, diphtheria,
typhoid fever and other communicable diseases. Milk may be easily pasteurized in the home.

Mix the milk well and pour it into the clean feeding bottles, which should be stoppered with clean cotton.
Take a wire basket that will hold the six or seven bottles used for 24 hours and place the basket containing the bottles in a tin bucket of cold water, filled to a point a little above the level of the milk. Heat the water and allow it to boil for five minutes. Set it aside for 10 minutes and then run cold water into the bucket until the milk is cooled. The milk should then be put in the ice chest and kept at a temperature of not above 50 degrees.

If the milk is to be mixed with other ingredients, such as oatmeal, barley water, rice water or sugar, these should be added after pasteurization.
Keep the milk cool until just before time to feed the baby, and then heat it to blood heat by placing the bottle in warm water. Never test the temperature of the milk by placing the nipple in the mouth before giving it to the baby. Let a few drops of the milk fall on the back of the hand instead.

Everything that comes in contact with the baby's food should be clean.
Always keep the hands clean. The hands should be washed with hot water, soap, nailbrush and dried with a clean towel before touching anything that goes into the baby's mouth.

As soon as the baby completed nursing pour out any milk which may be left in the bottle and fill it with cold water. When ready to prepare the milk for the next 24-hour feeding wash the bottles thoroughly with hot soap and a bottle brush and then rinse and boil the bottles for 15 minutes.

Only nipples that can be kept clean easily should be used. They should be turned inside out, scrubbed, cleansed and boiled. Never use nipples connecting with long glass, or rubber tubes.

Q. Is it true that cancer is spread by the drinking of infected water?
In a newspaper article I read that Americans had at last found the deadly cancer germ, and that it was spread by a tiny worm found in drinking water.

A. There is practically no truth in the story as printed. I have investigated the matter and find that the "remarkable discovery" published in various newspapers in April of this year is based on an article published in 1914, as Document No.
790 of the United States Bureau of Fisheries. This report is atrociously garbled. There is absolutely no evidence to show that cancer in man has any relation to the quality of drinking water. Moreover, there is no positive evidence that cancer is really a germ disease.

If you will send me your name and address I shall be glad to send

Confessions of a Bride
(Copyright 1920, by The Newspaper Enterprise Association)

"Spiritism—or spiritualism—is as old as man," said Bob, who has all kinds of information at the tip of his tongue. "Why, eighteen hundred years ago an ancient satirist described a scene of that time. It was held in a dimly lighted chamber, and the crowd got all worked up and fluttered! But spiritism was invented before his day long before men wrote books. It belongs to a date-less past and it is still the belief of the primitive minded."

Fate of the "Ione"
Turns Our Conversation Upon Spiritualism.

I looked quickly at Chrys and hoped that her feelings had not been hurt by Bob's speech. Chrys has believed for years in things occult. Bob knew all about her fondness for her ouija board and I knew that he was seizing his chance to make fun of her even at the risk of offending her. Because he is her twin, Bob often dares to joke about his sister's pet opinions.
Chrys merely smiled in her best enigmatical Mona Lisa effect and listened calmly while Bob went on:

"Of course we don't need to discuss superstition. It isn't for us to agree with Dad's valet that the 'Ione' was doomed because Dad put his shoes on a shelf. But we must realize that a lot of idiotic superstitions are bound to become popular as one result of the revival of spiritualism."

"And it's a pity because the belief in good or bad luck, and in omens and charms has nothing whatever to do with the belief that the dead can come back and talk with the living," asserted Chrys.

"Certainly not," agreed Dr. Spence, "but it's human nature to seize on all unexplainable events and attribute them to ghosts."

"So unnecessary because there are enough kinds of fool delusions to suit all comers," remarked Jim, Jr. "There's clairvoyance, and mesmerism and trance state, and crystal gazing, to say nothing of the ways of communication like table rapping and slate writing and levitation—and—then some."

"To say nothing of the ouija board,—hey—Chrys?" remarked Bob in his teasing tone.

"Make game of it all you want to, boys, but you've got to admit that the belief is running across the country as fast as ever the flu did. It's the popular intellectual diversion of the decade. It has invaded the universities and set some of the best psychologists of the country to fighting the scientists."

"All types of minds are interested, I grant you," said Bob. "The original American version of spiritualism effected only the credulous. It was begun by the Fox Sisters about 1848. They lived on a farm in New York. They claimed to get messages from the dead, but later in life confessed that they were playing a prank! Nevertheless, what they started swept over the country as 'spiritualism' and was taken up by educated people."

"The present revival is obviously due to the war," put in Spence. "I heard a hundred mysterious and unexplainable incidents 'over there.' Friends of soldiers who perished demand comfort—and everybody craves mental excitement, and certainly nothing can be more comforting nor more exciting than so-called 'proofs' that the dead can communicate with the living."

"All opponents claim that the mediums use simple conjurer's tricks which any detective ought to catch on to and reveal," said Jim.

"What about my vision of two figures on a beach at midnight? Explain that if you can." I put the case to anybody in the company who cared to answer.

"A hallucination, Mrs. Lorimer—and a coincidence, I say, even though I was baffled by your hallucination," said Spence.

"Merely a remarkable coincidence?" I asked.

Spence nodded and went on:

"Don't you recall what Bacon said about dreams? 'Men marke what they hit, but never marke what they miss!'"

"In other words, Jane made up her pictures and then believed in them!"

"And it was just a chance they—she and Travers—picked up you two strays," Bob explained.

"The capacity of the human mind for being fooled is only equaled by its ability to fool itself," said Jim. "Old Balzac tells how he fooled himself. He poisoned one of the characters in a book, then threw down his pen and went to dinner. The taste of arsenic was so strong in his mouth that it made him awfully sick—actually sea-sick!"

THE GREAT AMERICAN HOME

LEE CO. S. S. ASSN.

FOR PARTY PLEDGING
SUPPORT TO DRY LAWAction Taken at County
Convention at Sublette
This Week

The Lee County Sunday School Convention which met in Sublette May 25-26, on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, was a success in every way. Sublette entertained the delegates with splendid hospitality, and the registration was larger than last year. The program was carried out as previously announced. Perhaps the most important item of business was the revision of the constitution, that adopted in 1917 having become inadequate owing to the rapid development of the work.

Officers For Year

The officers elected were: President—Harry E. Currens, R. No. 3, Franklin Grove.

Vice President and Supt. Administration Division—Rev. Joseph Burrows, Amboy.

Secretary, Miss Ethel M. Kay, Dixon.

Assistant Secretary, Mrs. Mabel Fluck, R. No. 6, Dixon.

Treasurer, Fred E. Lewis, Amboy.

Children's Division Supts., Miss Irla Webster, Dixon, and Mrs. L. H. Wood, Dixon.

Young People's—Earl Buck, Franklin Grove, and Miss Elizabeth Raymond, Dixon.

Adult—George Gilroy, R. No. 5, Dixon, and Mrs. Mary L. Kay, Dixon.

Educational—Miss Luella Powers, Prairieville; Ira L. Buck, Franklin Grove, and Mrs. I. D. Reynolds, Dixon.

Business—Wm. Sandrock, R. No. 3, Ashton.

Visitation—Mrs. Jos. Nicholson, R. No. 2, West Brooklyn.

Attendants From Dixon

Among those attending the convention from Dixon and vicinity were: Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Walter, Miss Eleanor Powell, Mrs. Louisa Powell, Mrs. W. E. White, Miss Elizabeth C. Raymond, Miss Grace Tidball, Miss Fay Byrd, Mr. Edwin T. Kuhn, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hicks, Mrs. A. J. Kay, Miss Ethel M. Kay, Mrs. J. M. Huff, Miss Bessie Missman, Miss Luella Powers, Mrs. Aaron Fluck, Miss Mabel Fluck, Mrs. Roy Crawford, Rev. E. H. Gilmar, and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Currens.

A fine address on "Competent Leadership" was given on Tuesday evening by Rev. Lloyd W. Walter of Dixon. The other address of the evening was by the State Worker, Miss Pearl L. Weaver, of Chicago, whose work was very helpful at every session of the convention. Another much appreciated part of the program was the Consecration Service on Wednesday morning, led by Frank Nangle of Paw Paw.

Fourteen of the fifteen districts in the county were present or sent reports, and plans were made which look toward a successful new year of work.

Adopted Resolutions

The following resolutions were adopted: Whereas Almighty God through His beneficence has seen fit to permit the Lee County Sunday School Association to assemble in its 54th Annual Convention, be it hereby resolved that:—

We as a convention thank Him for His protecting care, for His guiding hand and spiritual blessings during the past year.

Be it further resolved that this Association shall hereby consecrate itself to a deeper spiritual activity and a more aggressive campaign of religious training.

That in appreciation of the untiring efforts of the officers of this Association we hereby thank them for their services and the influence of their consecrated lives.

That we, as a Convention, adopt the following resolutions of the Prohibition National Committee and transmit a copy of the resolutions to each of the custodians and authorize our

ACROSS THE SEAS

MEMORIAL DAY,
1920

By Edmund Vance Cooke

Across the seas the lilies bloom
And spread their pitying perfume
Where silent soldiers fought,
While here the pansies' morning eyes
Are jewelled with tears to symbolize
The sadness of our thought.

Across the seas the laurel breathes
Of valor symbolized by its wreaths
Which deck the wooden cross,
While here the rosemary and rue
Remember, and remember, too,
The bitterness of loss.

Across the seas the poppies love
To cast their spell of sleep above
Some hushed and hallowed spot, While here full many a breast must ache
But wears for some lost soldier's sake
The blue forget-me-not.

SIX MONTHS I COULDN'T WORK

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Me Strong and Able to Work—I Recommend It To All My Friends.

Bayonne, N. J.—"I had pains in back and legs so that I could not stand caused by female trouble. I felt so tired all the time, had bad headaches, and for six months I could not work. I was treated by a physician a lot of other remedies but got no relief. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has helped me very much. I am well and strong and now able to do my work. I can not thank you enough and I recommend your medicine to my friends who are sick."—Mrs. SUSIE SACATANSKY, 25 East 17th St., Bayonne, N. J.

It must be admitted by every fair-minded, intelligent person that a medicine could not live and grow in popularity for over forty years, and today hold a record for such wonderful success as does Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, without possessing great virtue and actual worth. Such medicines must be looked upon and termed both standard and dependable by every thinking person.

Four Decisions to Settle All Disputes Before Rep. Meeting

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, May 29.—Decisions in four of the contests among delegates to the Republican national convention problem will settle all of the disputes, which involve 122 seats, members of the national committee said today. Presidents in these four major rulings will govern the points raised in other cases, it was said.

The national committee will begin consideration of them next Monday. Aside from the contests in Minnesota and Missouri the contests are from southern states with close fights indicated in the Georgia and Mississippi district disputes.

One Carload of Gas Received Late Friday

A car load of gasoline was received at the local distributing plant of the Standard Oil company late yesterday afternoon, the first automobile fuel to be received here by that company for about two weeks. The tank trucks were loaded as soon as the car was in place and supplies sent out to the filling stations that have been dry for many days. The supply received will last over Sunday but unless other shipments are immediately forthcoming Dixon will experience another shortage in a very few days.

Manager Chapman of the Penn company is without gasoline and is speculating upon the receipt of a car. A supply is in transit but shipping facilities are blamed for the delay. Manager Anderson of the Sinclair plant has a limited supply on hand and is expecting another shipment.

Lincoln Highways Play Here Sunday

The strong Lincoln Highway Tire company's baseball team, of Fulton, will oppose the Dixon Browns at the latter's park tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Fulton aggregation has played two games here with the Browns and on both occasions have won with ease. This year they claim to have a much stronger team than before and Manager Drake will have the best of his players in uniform in an effort to deal out defeat if possible.

The visitors are employees of the Lincoln Highway Tire company at Fulton, some of the players being former members of Clinton and Lyons teams. A good attendance is desired. The new right field bleachers are now equipped with a roof, which will add considerably to the comfort of fans who prefer to watch the progress of the game from this position.

Brooklyn's Traffic Normal 'Spite Strike

By Associated Press Leased Wire

New York, May 29.—Service on the lines of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company was declared by company officials to be normal today despite the strike of power house employees called late yesterday.

The strikers they declared number not more than one per cent of the company's 12,500 employees. Strike leaders professed entire confidence in their ability to tie the lines up tight before the end of today.

R. R. T., trainmen and other employees have declined to strike in sympathy with the power house men.
